A satellite map of a river system, likely the Willamette River, showing various reaches and a corridor. The map is oriented with North at the top. The river flows from the top left towards the bottom right, eventually emptying into a large body of water on the right side. The landscape is predominantly green, indicating forested areas, with some cleared patches in shades of brown and tan. A prominent diagonal line, labeled 'BPA Corridor', runs from the bottom left towards the middle right. Several reaches of the river are labeled: 'Jupiter Bridge - Rocky Brook Reach' at the top left, 'Lazy C - Powerlines Reach' in the center, and 'Brinnon Reach' further down on the right. A black arrow points upwards from the bottom right towards the river's mouth.
