

JEFFERSON COUNTY BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

AGENDA REQUEST

TO: Board of County Commissioners
FROM: Adiel McKnight, Deputy Clerk of the Board
DATE: August 4, 2025
SUBJECT: PROCLAMATION re: Proclaiming August 3-9, 2025 as National Farmers Market Week

STATEMENT OF ISSUE:

Jefferson County Farmers Market has two vibrant markets in Jefferson County, Washington. The Port Townsend Farmers Market operates Saturdays from April to mid-December at the 600 Block of Tyler Street, and the Chimacum Farmers Market operates Sundays, June through October, at the Chimacum Corner Farm Stand.

Between the two markets, there are more than 100 vendors offering products like fresh produce, pasture-raised meat, eggs, fish, artisan prepared food and arts and crafts.

FISCAL IMPACT

There is no fiscal impact.

RECOMMENDATION:

We recommend the Jefferson County Board of County Commissioners support local farmers markets by proclaiming the week of August 3-9, 2025 as National Farmers Market Week.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, National Farmers Market Week is an annual celebration of farmers markets coordinated by the Farmers Market Coalition, a membership-based nonprofit organization that supports farmers markets nationwide through training, technical assistance, and network-building; and

WHEREAS, farmers markets foster direct relationships between community members and farmers, which can work to create a fairer and sustainable food system. Farmers markets are a hub for connection and collective action around shared values; and

WHEREAS, the Jefferson County Farmers Market (JCFM) joins markets across the country in celebrating National Farmers Market Week; and

WHEREAS, the Port Townsend Farmers Market (PTFM) began in 1992 and celebrates its 33rd season this year. The Chimacum Farmers Market (CFM) was founded in 2008 by the Chimacum Grange and was adopted in 2010 by JCFM, the small nonprofit organization that hosts both Jefferson County farmers markets. Together, JCFM hosts over 100 farms, artisan food, arts, and nonprofit vendors between its two markets, supporting small local businesses in generating $1.79 million in annual sales last year with a ripple-out economic impact of approximately $5.37 million for our local economy.

WHEREAS, vendors offer a diversity of products from seasonal fruits and veggies to pasture-raised meat, bread, bakery items, hard cider, wine, goat cheese, prepared food, as well as a wide variety of arts. Jefferson County Farmers Markets are unique in that they feature truly local food and arts arriving to the market from producers located no more than 30 miles away. Most JCFM vendors are from Jefferson County, with a handful of vendors from directly adjoining counties; and

WHEREAS, local food production leads to greater resilience in food security and a reduction of the carbon footprint for our food supply. Furthermore, our local farmers markets make locally produced food available to people of all incomes through their food assistance programs. These programs served about 1,200 community members with low incomes last year, supporting our friends and neighbors in bringing home $126K in farm fresh and local food. Farmers Markets are abundant sources of food, connection, and artistry in our community and those across the country; and

WHEREAS, Jefferson County, Washington strives to ensure all of our residents have access to healthy, local food regardless of income;

NOW, THEREFORE, the Jefferson County Board of County Commissioners Proclaim August 3-9, 2025;

NATIONAL FARMERS MARKET WEEK

BE IT FURTHER PROCLAIMED, that the Board of Commissioners encourage all residents and visitors alike to join them in celebrating National Farmers Market Week.

PROCLAIMED this 4th day of August, 2025.
